SIX AND TWENTY

Williamston, March 30.—The rain of Friday afternoon and night was very acceptable, as work animals and farmers were getting done putting in fertilizer for cotton, but very little corn has been planted. One thing noticeable is that our farmers are manuring their cotton lands better than heretofore.

The young ladies of the Sunday school have recently placed curtains in the church so that the whole building can be cut in into a class room.

Many of our people are getting real anxious to be given an opportunity to sign the petition asking for an election on the dispensary. Those who favor the return of the dispensary claim that those who drink liquor are going to get it even if they have to send to a distant state for it. We doubt if conditions are very much better now than they were in the days of the dispensary. Many people voted against the old dispensary with the hope that they would get prohibition that would prohibit, but it seems that they were mistaken for there is hardly even a Sunday session, but that liquor can be bought in sections remote from the county seat in any quantity desired from a drink to five gallons and it can be bought at any time in any small town in Anderson county. We have never bought whiskey from a blind tiger in the city of Anderson but we have known men to buy whiskey in less than 200 yards of the court house in broad open daylight. Now the question is who is to blame for this state of affairs. The county officers can be held responsible for it for how are they to know anything about it unless such is reported to them and where is the man who will buy liquor from a blind tiger and then report it? The one who does the buying is morally if not legally guilty as the one who does the selling. The blind tiger business is one of knowing and not knowing. We know it is being sold and at the same time we don't know. It has got to the place where it is almost as hard to prove that a person is a blind tiger as it would be to prove that a bull frog is a frog. Suppose we try the dispensary again and see if that will be any better.

We think the editorial and "Parents' article in The Intelligencer of recent date were exactly to the point. We favor compulsory education and above-all compulsory teaching. We have known children to copy their lessons at home and hand them in to teacher on the following day and those same lessons would be returned to the pupils without a single correction made. We call that teaching some. What we need today are more teachers like Prof. W. P. Holland and the lamented G. L. Johnston who one time taught school at Lebanon. Then it was know your lesson or go after a "four foot" hickory and the pupils were pretty sure to know their lessons.

Prof. Bryson and Stone have recently ordered a new supply of song books for the church and Sunday school. With Prof. Bryson as leader our choir is fast forging ahead.

Vernon, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Martin has been very sick but is fast improving.

Peter Ward of Beavertown visited friends here a few nights ago.

J. E. Martin and A. M. Guyton, Jr., of Williamston R. F. D. 2, were visiting here a few days ago.

The teachers of the Belton school are certainly glad that the school is to receive $300 of the state rural graded school money. This school does not make as big a job as some other schools, but that does not keep it from being one of the best schools in the county. The teachers, Misses Bales and McAllister have certainly given entire satisfaction during the present session.

J. D. Link says he is a candidate for matrimony and is sure of election if he can only get one vote.

A. W. Pickens, our popular merchant says that the fruit crop is safe in this section so long as it doesn't get killed out by a cold spell.

Jim Moore says the Anderson Abbeville-Easley roller works him every morning mowing for the big station at Whiteaker's Crossroads. Guess he is only dreaming.

Miss Mamie Elliott of Piercetown was visiting in the community Saturday.

J. H. Elrod was a business visitor to Belton last Friday.

Jep Kay was in the city of Anderson last Saturday on business.

Chronic Stomach Trouble Cured.

There is nothing more discouraging than a chronic disorder of the stomach.

It is not surprising that many suffer for years with such an ailment when a permanent cure is within their reach and may be had for a trifle. "About one year ago," said P. H. Beck of Wallaces, Mich., "I bought a package of Chamberlain's Tablets, and since using them I have felt pretty well. I have previously used any number of different medicines, but none of them were of any lasting benefit." For sale by Evans' Pharmacy.

SOUTH WILLIAMSTON

South Williamston, March 30.—The Williamston mill is progressing nicely and has been largely attended since it was first opened. It is well worth the money to hear the music to the mill. The mill is a big one and is the only one of the kind in the county. The people here their appreciation by the large attendance on Friday and Saturday nights of each week.

Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Chapman spent the week-end in Greenville with relatives.

The Mother's Remedy.

A cough medicine for children should be harmless. It should be pleasant to take. It should be effective. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is all of this and in the mother's favorite.

Williamston County Dispensary.

Columbia, March 30.—The dispensary advocates have won their fight in Williamston county. The supreme court in a decision yesterday by Associate Justice Hydrick, dismissed the petition of T. W. Boyle and others against R. M. McGowan and the state board of canvassers.

The action was brought to have the court review, under the writ of certiorari, the action of the state board of canvassers, which by an equally divided vote, affirmed the decision of the county board of canvassers of Williamston county, whereby the result of an election held on the question of the sale of whisky was declared in favor of the sale thereof.

Financial and Commercial

New York Cotton

(By Associated Press.)
New York, March 30.—Cotton was more or less excited today with old crop positions making high ground for the movement on renewed covering, or bull support. Many contracts led the advance, selling at 12.51 or 28 points above Saturday's close, and 35 points above July.

Relatively firm cables, favorable foreign trade accounts and bullish over-Sunday advices from the Southern spot markets were considered chiefly responsible for the opening advance of 10 to 15 points. Prof. trading also checked the advance from time to time and caused slight recessions, but offering failed to increase materially on the setbacks.

Then general tendency of the market was upward until in the afternoon at which time old active crop positions sold for about 14 to 25 points net higher.

October and December contracts sold 5 to 6 points higher, but reacted with the rest of the list in late trading.

Spot cotton steady. Middling uplands 1975; gulf 1400. No sales. Cotton futures closed steady.

New Orleans Cotton

New Orleans, La., March 30.—Continued unsettled weather over the cotton region, nervousness of May shorts and reports of large business in Manhattan combined to keep the cotton market today. The May option led the advance and at the highest stood 18 points up. The other active months at the highest were 8 to 14 points up. The close was 5 to 12 points up on a steady close.

The weather forecast promised little change in conditions. Telegrams from Texas, Mississippi, and other points rejoined the farm work was being delayed by too much rain. Large acreage talk, offset to some extent, the effect of weather news on the new crop months.

Cotton futures closing.

Liverpool Cotton

Liverpool, March 30.—Cotton spot steady. Good middling 750; middling 715; low middling 675.

Sales 8,000; speculation and export 500. Receipts 8,000. Futures very steady.

Cotton Goods

New York, March 30.—Cotton goods markets were heavy for the day, with buying of convertibles more active. Reports show the market of low offerings on dress fabrics in the western markets.

Cotton Seed Oil

New York, March 30.—Cotton seed oil was a shade easier today for forward months on weakness in lint, but the market soon turned on short covering, light crude offerings and fresh buying for outside account. August closed 2 points higher and the other positions unchanged to 3 net. The market closed steady.

Stocks and Bonds

New York, March 30.—Speculation reached a state of gloom today. The slow decline in progress last week was halted, but little else was accomplished. Lack of public demand for stocks, and the downward trend
